In These Halls....

WELCOME

Class of 2012,

As we look back at our days in these halls, we remember the times that have helped to shape the adults we are today. From the aimless wandering as freshmen around the dungeon, to the confident strides across the balcony as seniors, we see ourselves transition from worried teenagers to proud young adults. The reputations that once defined us now dissolves as we forge our own paths and create our own identities. These halls that we once feared have now become our sanctuary; they have lead us to some of our best friends, and now guide us on our future endeavors. As we move on in our lives, we say goodbye to these halls and thank you to our teachers. We close our lockers, for the final bell has rung, and we must now scramble to finally beat the busses.
